1 Scope of Work

Williams Digital will design, build and launch a custom storefront for Gift Horse. The storefront is written from scratch rather than assembled from a Shopify theme, and sits in front of the Client's existing Shopify store, which continues to run the business behind it.

The build comprises:

Homepage

As shown in the approved preview: hero, new arrivals, gift finder, category tiles, price-band section, the greeting-card wall, shop photography, maker features, staff picks, a Nashville section and store information. Desktop and mobile are laid out separately rather than one being a narrowed version of the other.

Collection pages

A template serving every collection in the Client's Shopify store, with filtering by product type, price and tag, and sorting. Covers their existing collections including Cards, Prints, Home Goods, Local Artists, Nashville Goods, Staff Picks and Gifts Under $25.

Product pages

A template serving every product, with image gallery, variant/option selection, price, stock state, description, maker attribution and related products.

Cart

Add, remove, adjust quantity, and hand off to Shopify's hosted checkout.

Search

Full-catalogue search with type-ahead suggestions grouped by product type, and a results view.

Gift Finder

The three-question finder shown in the preview, filtering the live catalogue on product tags and price. No third-party service or subscription is required to run it.

Illustration and lettering system

The bespoke illustration set built for Gift Horse — horse, horseshoe, guitar, star, sparkle, flower, heart, smiley, envelope, arrows, squiggle, starburst, washi tape and circle mark — plus the hand-lettering used for headings and annotations. Delivered as scalable vector files usable beyond the website.

Launch essentials

- Existing product and collection URLs preserved, with permanent 301 redirects for any URL that changes, and http to https.
 - Page titles and descriptions, structured data, XML sitemap, robots.txt and canonical URLs.
 - Analytics and Google Search Console setup.
 - Built to WCAG 2.2 Level AA, targeting Core Web Vitals in the “good” range.
 - Newsletter capture, connected to the Client’s existing email provider.

2 What Stays in Shopify

Shopify remains the system of record. The Client keeps their Shopify subscription and continues to manage the business exactly as they do now. Nothing is migrated out.

- Products, variants, images, descriptions, collections and tags
- Inventory and stock levels
- Pricing, discount codes and gift cards
- Customer accounts and order history
- Taxes and shipping configuration
- Checkout and payments — the storefront hands off to Shopify’s own hosted checkout, so Shop Pay, saved payment methods, discounts, tax and shipping calculation all continue to work unchanged

Adding, editing or removing products is done in Shopify as usual and appears on the storefront without developer involvement.

3 Shopify Apps & Theme Extensions

This is the single most common source of unexpected work on a project of this kind, so it is set out plainly here.

Many Shopify apps work by injecting code into the Liquid theme. Because this storefront does not use a Liquid theme, those apps will not carry over automatically. This typically affects product reviews, loyalty and rewards, pop-ups, upsell and cross-sell widgets, wishlists, subscriptions, back-in-stock alerts and similar tools.

Before development begins, Williams Digital will inventory every app installed on the Client's store and provide a written list showing which will continue to work, which need re-integration, and which have no equivalent. Re-integrating an app is quoted separately and only proceeds with the Client's written approval.

Apps that operate inside the Shopify admin — accounting, shipping labels, inventory management, purchase orders, point of sale — are unaffected, because they never touch the storefront.

4 Content, Photography & Materials

The Client supplies brand artwork, product photography, shop photography and written content. Williams Digital will use the Client's existing Shopify product data and imagery as the source for all product content.

The Client confirms they own, or hold the necessary rights to use, all photography and artwork supplied for the website, including any images produced by a third-party photographer. Where photography carries a credit or licence condition, the Client will tell Williams Digital what it requires.

Please check before launch: several of the shop photographs supplied are credited to a photographer. Confirmation that these may be used on the website, and whether a credit line is required, is needed before they are published.

Williams Digital will not originate factual claims about the shop — staff names, maker biographies, awards, press mentions, product origins or store history. Any such content is drawn from Client-supplied or Client-published sources and confirmed by the Client before launch. Placeholder names and text used in the preview are for layout only and will be replaced with Client-supplied copy.

Not Included

The following are outside this agreement. Each can be quoted separately.

Photography	Product, shop or lifestyle photography, and photo retouching.
Product copywriting	Writing or rewriting product descriptions. Existing Shopify descriptions are used as they are.
Email marketing	Campaign design, flows, list migration or email platform configuration beyond connecting the signup form.
Blog or zine	An editorial section with its own templates and publishing workflow.
Wholesale or trade	A separate wholesale catalogue, trade pricing or account-gated ordering.
Point of sale	In-store POS integration, and displaying real-time in-store stock separately from online stock.
App re-integration	Rebuilding functionality currently provided by theme-based Shopify apps. See section 3.
Ongoing marketing	SEO campaigns, paid advertising and social media.
Third-party costs	Shopify subscription, domain registration, apps, fonts and stock imagery remain the Client's own accounts and costs.

6 Investment & Payment Terms

Custom storefront design and build, as described in section 1	$1,300
Deposit — due on acceptance	$650
Final payment — due when the site goes live	$650
Total	$1,300

The build fee is $1,300, split into two equal payments: $650 on acceptance of this agreement, and $650 when the site goes live. Work begins once the deposit is received and the Client has provided the access listed in section 11. The final payment is invoiced at launch and is not due before then.

This is a fixed fee for the scope described. It does not change with the number of products in the catalogue, the number of collections, or the number of times the Client updates their store during the build.

Work outside this scope is quoted in writing before it starts, or billed at $50 per hour where the Client prefers hourly. No out-of-scope work proceeds without written approval.

To accept and begin, pay the deposit here:

Card and Apple Pay accepted. A receipt is issued automatically. Payment of the deposit, together with a signed copy of this agreement, constitutes acceptance.

Ongoing Hosting & Maintenance

$75 / MONTH

Beginning at launch, $75 per month covers:

- Hosting and the deployment pipeline that builds the storefront
- SSL certificate, renewals and security updates
- Daily backups and uptime monitoring
- Keeping the storefront connected and working against Shopify as their platform changes
- Minor content edits — text corrections, swapping a featured image, changing which collections are highlighted, updating hours or store details

Minor edits mean small changes to existing content, not new sections, new page types or new features. Larger work is quoted separately.

The monthly service starts at launch, not today:

The monthly fee is billed monthly and may be cancelled by either party with 30 days' written notice. If the Client cancels, Williams Digital will provide the storefront source code and assist with a transfer to hosting of the Client's choosing. The Client's Shopify store, products and orders are unaffected by cancellation.

The Client owns

- Their brand, name, wordmark, logo, colours and all pre-existing artwork. Williams Digital claims no rights in these and uses them only to build and maintain the website.
- All content, product data, photography and copy they supply.
- The custom illustration and lettering created for Gift Horse under this agreement — the drawn set described in section 1 — transferring to the Client on receipt of full payment. The Client may use this artwork however they like, including on stickers, packaging, print and social media, with no further fee.
- The storefront design and the site content, on receipt of full payment.

Williams Digital retains

- The underlying code libraries, build tooling and generic components used to produce the storefront, which are reusable on other projects. This does not include anything specific to Gift Horse.
- The right to show the work in its portfolio and in professional materials. The Client may withdraw this permission in writing at any time.

Williams Digital will not use Client materials, artwork or photography to train machine-learning models, and will not generate imagery imitating the Client's brand artwork or the work of the makers they stock.

9 Timeline

Week 1	Kick-off, Shopify access, app inventory (section 3), asset and content collection.
Weeks 2–3	Homepage build and the illustration system, on the Client's live catalogue.
Weeks 4–5	Collection pages, product pages, cart, search and gift finder.
Week 6	Review, revisions, accessibility and performance pass, redirects.
Launch	DNS cutover at a time the Client chooses, with the existing store kept available until the new storefront is confirmed working.

Six weeks is the working estimate from receipt of payment and access. The schedule depends on the Client returning content and approvals; delays in either move the launch date by the same amount. Williams Digital will give notice if anything on its side affects the date.

10 Revisions & Support

The fee includes three rounds of revisions across the build. A round means one consolidated set of change requests from the Client, returned together.

After launch, 30 days of correction support is included for anything not working as described in this agreement, at no charge. This covers faults, not new requests.

11 Client Responsibilities

- Shopify collaborator access, and enabling Storefront API access on the store. The Client's Shopify plan must support it; Williams Digital will confirm this before work begins.
 - Access to the domain registrar or DNS, for launch.
 - Brand artwork, photography and any written content, in the formats requested.
 - Real staff names and picks for the Staff Picks section, and maker information for the maker features, or written confirmation to omit those sections.
 - A single point of contact for approvals, and responses within five business days.
 - Keeping the Shopify subscription active. The storefront cannot function without it.

12 Cancellation

Either party may cancel this agreement in writing at any time.

If the Client cancels before launch, Williams Digital will invoice for work completed to that point at $50 per hour, set that against the deposit, and refund any remainder. The final payment does not become due. Work completed and paid for is delivered to the Client.

If Williams Digital cancels before launch, the deposit is refunded in full for work not yet delivered, the final payment does not become due, and any completed work is delivered to the Client at no charge.

Cancelling the monthly service does not cancel the Client's ownership of the delivered work.

13 Liability & Governing Law

Williams Digital will perform this work with reasonable skill and care. It is not liable for loss of sales, profits or data arising from platform outages, third-party services, Shopify changes, or matters outside its reasonable control. Its total liability under this agreement is limited to the fees paid by the Client.

Williams Digital does not provide legal, tax or accessibility-compliance advice. Responsibility for the accuracy of product information, pricing, tax settings and shipping terms rests with the Client.

This agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Alabama.

Entire Agreement & Acceptance

This document is the entire agreement between the parties and supersedes prior discussions, proposals and correspondence. Changes are valid only in writing, agreed by both parties.

Signing below indicates acceptance of the scope, fees and terms set out above.
